After thoughtful discussion and group conscience within the Public Information Committee, Al-Anon will not participate in the OC Fair this year in light of recent changes in fair policies.

We appreciate the opportunities we have had to share Al-Anon's message in past years and look forward to continuing our service in other ways. Participation in next year's fair will be reevaluated at a later time.

We're working on other outreach events and will update you with more information as they become finalized.
